IS YOUNG FALES INSANE?

EXPERTS SAY HE IS, TWO Teld Dr. Drayton He Had Killed Haydon to Get Money to Buy a Torpedo Boat and Cruise Boston Ray as a Pirate—His Mother Tells of His Behavior.

Several experts in insanity gave their princers in the Court of Over and Terminer in Newark vesterday on the mental condition of Gyear old Robert Alden Fales, who is on trial before Judge Depue and a jury for the murder of Thomas Haydon on April 30 last. The court room was crowded as on the previous days of the trial. Young Fales was his restless and uneasy, but this seemed to due to the heat rather than to any perturbatton because of his situation. At the noor recess he ate his luncheon in the little room adjoining the court room and afterward smoked eigarettes.

Out of a number of witnesses called by the defence there were two who told of Fales's want of concern after the murder. Joseph Balley, who was Fales's most intimate friend said that on the evening of April 30 Fales spoke of Haydon's death indifferently and acted just as he had always done ever since he had known him. Bailey said that he and Fales read "nickel libraries" together and that they had read several hundred.

The other of these two witnesses was Mrs. Renrietta Fales, the mother of the boy murderer. She has been in court every day with her baby, born the day after her husband killed himself. She has shown no especial signs of agitation, and her manner on the witness stand was collected and her voice calm. She said that her boy had been injured on the head twice. Once, when he was a baby. he rolled down the steps and got a violent blow on the back of the head. Again, when he was 14, he was hit over the right car by a brick. He came home at 11:10 o'clock the morning of the murder. This was about forty-five minutes after he had struck Haydon down and robbed him. He showed no excitement and asked if dinner was ready. He gave down and robbed him. He showed no excitement and asked if dinner was ready. He gave her a revolver and two ten-dollar bills. He said the bills were a birthday present. In the late evening, just before going to bed, his mother asked him if he had heard about Mr. Haydon's being robbed and injured so that he would die. "Yes." said Alden. "Joe showed me the paper and I read it." Mrs. Fales said that Alden had stolen something when he was 12 years old, and she had sent him away to Vermont because she thought he would be better off there. She said he was like other boys, but was quiet and mysterious and never let any one know what he was thinking about or what he was going to do. He was a good boy most of the time, but at times he was bad and intractable. He had frequent and violent headaches, an inheritance both from her and her husband.

Dr. Henry S. Drayton of S7 East Twenty-first street, New York, was the first expert, he had studied nervous diseases for about lifteen years, and liad been consulted in many ariminal cases, although he had never testified before. He had examined Fales three times, about an hour ench time, and he had closely observed his conduct in court. He said that Fales showed a decided depression of vital force, both in mind and in hody. The boy's nervous organization showed that it was not properly nourished. The Doctor was of the epinion that the boy's mind had not attained the degree of maturity which is commonly found in children of his age. He was of an active and susceptible nervous organization; and this, taken with the vitiated state of his vital forces, was limite to produce an explosion in a criminal act at any time. He had been a cigarotte smoker for many yours. This in itself would tend to sunt his mental growth and sap his vitality.

"I hold that he is mentally unbalanced, that he is insane," said Dr. Drayton. "I think that he is insane," said Dr. Drayton. It think that he is not responsible for his actions, that he cannot distinguish right from wrong. I observed that he lacked cau not seem to recognize the law of soil-preservation, which has been called the first law of nature."

The prosecutor asked Dr. Drayton if he did not regard all children as insane. "Yes." said the Doctor." in the sense that they are not developed to the point where correct judgments can be formed from rational premises. The Doctor also spoke particularly of the evil influence of such literature as Deadwood Dick's adventures in robbery and murder. He thought the boy was in asense responsible to society, but that it would be nearer the truth to put it that society was responsible to the boy.

It was not permitted to Dr. Drayton to tell what the boy had said to him of his motives for the crime when he examined him. The substance of this was that young Fales had read in Boston. He saw in this a chance to carry out his favorite scheme and become a pirate. He wanted to get money and buy the bont and arm it proporly and cruise the waters of Buston Bay, kidnapping, marauding, and spreading terror and mimiration after the fashion of sundry buccaneers, whose adventures he had decoured and whose glory he emulated. He told Dr. Drayton that he had read about 500 "nickel libraries." He did not intend to kill Haylon, but simply to get the money.

Dr. William Titus, a former County Physician of Easex county, testified to finding the same state of affairs that Dr. Drayton found, and to reaching the same conclusion. He thought Fales had emotional insanity: that he had lost control of his will; that Lereasoned from wrong and warped premises to a wrong and warped econelusion.

To rebut this the State introduced two expects of equal standing and of august positive.

and warped premises to a wrong and warped conclusion.

To rebut this the State introduced two experts of equal standing and of equal positiveness of opinion. The first was Dr. Wrightson, who said in his brief testimony that Fales was of sound mind; that he was able to distinguish right and wrong; that he was responsible for his acts; that he was as mature as any boy of sixteen, having a mind of unusual alertness. Dr. Wrightson thought the "niekel fluraries" might have warped the boy's mind, but they had not destroyed his conscience, which must have told him it was wrong to lie in wait and strike down a man to commit a roberts.

Dr. Livingston S. Hinckley was the State's therexpert. He is a graduate of the Bellevue lospital Medical Collego, a former superingedent of the Insane Asylum on Blackwell's Hospital Medical College, a former superintendent of the Insane Asylum on Blackwell's Island, and the presont superintendent of the Essex County Insane Asylum. He made several energil examinations of the boy, and watched him closely in court.

"I found his physical condition about normal," he said, "except in respects that could be accounted for by his prison life and his mental anxiety. I found him keenly alive to his situation. I found him aware of what he had done and sorry for it. He is, in my opinion, perfectly sane, able to distinguish right from wrong, and responsible for what he did. I found mathing that would indicate that he had ever been lineance, even temporarily. I think he knew what he was doing on April 30."

Dr. Hinckley called the "nickel libraries" fithy trash, and said he had no doubt they had had a bad influence on the boy.

The case will probably go to the jury this morning.

Rivers Sill Miles Wide-Great Suffering

Among Dwellers in the Low Lands. MURPHYSBORO, Ill., June 2.—The present high water in the Mississippi River reaches the highest point for thirty years. Forty thousand acres of land are submerged, destroying 1,000 acres of growing crops, and carrying away dwelling houses, barns, and fences, leaving 1,000 families with nothing to keep want from their doors. Fully 500 of the 1.000 familles are tenants, and have neither food nor clothing. and are calling for aid from their more fortu nate neighbors. No estimate can yet be put upon the property destroyed, but it will reach beyond anything ever known in this country. MILAN, Mo., June 2.-A waterspout between Galt and Dunlap, on the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City road, 150 miles west of here, washed away two bridges and 1900 feet of track, blocking all traffic. Heavy rains have been falling at intervals during the last twenty-four hours.

Warsaw, Ill., June 2.-Owing to a break in the Egyptian levee two miles above the first break on the Des Moines, the two rivers have spread out at this point until they now present one g.and stretch of water over ten miles in one grand stretch of water over ten miles in width, causing the residents of this city to look for dry ground and shelter. The Des Moines River has risen ten inches in the last twenty-four hours, and the Mississippi has risen in the same time twenty-two inches.

Carro, June 2.—By degrees the actual condition of the people in the northwestern portion of Alexander county, and Missouri opposite, is becoming known, and it is pitiable in the extreme. The river is rising again, and hope for a corn crop must be abandoned, as the season will be too late by the time the water runs off. The sufferers near Wheatland embrace more than 100 families, fully 500 people, who were mostly tenants. They have lost absolutely everything. Provisions were sent them from hera last week, but only enough for immediate needs. A letter from Thebes says the distress there is increasing and will continue to increase until the water is all gone. Supplies of food will be sent from here, but outside aid is needed. It is difficult to lear from Missouri, owing to the water that covers the bottom lands, but the tales of distress that docome are pitful.

CLINTON, Mo., June 2.—The Grand River is out of its banks in consequence of a heavy rain which has prevailed here during the past twenty-four lours. The Osage liver is light at Oscoola and continues to rise.

Toscumua, Mo., June 2.—The Osage liver had risen nine feet at 5 l. M. vesterday. It is feared that the bottom lands will be overflowed, and the crops seriously damaged.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 2.—The Gasconade is reported to be higher than ever before, and lands that have previously escaped the floods are now inundated. Rain is falling, and the river is rising at the rate of eighteen inches per hour. Fences and crops are being swept. There are fears for the salety of the Friscobridge at Arilington.

DES MOINES, June 2.—Clarence G, Wilson of Burlington, superintendent of the lowal lines of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road, was washed from the railroad track at Dudley, Wapello county last nig width, causing the residents of this city to look for dry ground and shelter. The Des

THE GRANITE LOCKOUT.

No Result of the Boston Conference Between the Manufacturers and the Strikers. Boston, June 2.-An effort was made to-night o raise the big granite lockout now in progess, but the conference between the manufacturers and a committee from the employees resulted in nothing definite. The conference lasted three hours. The manufacturers proposition, and that there was, therefore, nothing to decide. One of the New England manufacturers has now 300 men at work for him, it is stated, and about two thousand men are at work in New England. The manufac-facturers appear to be willing to wait.

Mr. Beatty said vesterday that he had received a telegram stating that some of the leading members of the New England combination had gone out of it and that probably John Peirce and Booth Brothers & Co. would remain to fight the matter out. He also stated that there was a lockout in the Baltimore vards, that Frank Nash, who has a granite yard in Maspeth, L. L. had to discharge two granite cutters who came from Barrs. V. because Maspeth, J. L. had to discharge two granite cutters who came from Barre, Vt., because the wise the New England quarries would supply him with no more granite, and that four yards in this city and one in Brooklyn which supply monuments would shut down. It transpired yesterday that the movement for a compromise is all our thousand a fit.

It franshired yesteriay that the movements for a compromise is all on the part of the men. One of the representatives of the unions said yesteriaty that no proposition would be made by the unions to the quarry owners. The manufacturers' representatives here think that the men are weakening, and it was reported yesteriay that union men by degrees were going to work.

Yesterday afternoon L. L. Brown of the New York branch of the granite cutters union received a letter from Jossah Dyer, the National Secretary of the union, stating that W. E. Carnes of East Barre, Vt. a large quarry owner, had signed the May bill of peleos, and that the union men would return to work.

Late yesterday evening it was stated that John Poirce had heard that the pavers were about to leave the kinghts of Labor. This was emphatically denied by the pavers themselves, who say that there is no foundation for the report.

Last night Secretary Grant of the Paying Block Cutters' Union sent a despatch to this city from Boston stating that a compromise or settlement was impossible. Neither side would recede from its position regarding the date on which the wage scale should be signed.

stump of Maryland, Chairman of House Committee on Immigration, to facilitate the enforcement of the Immigration and Contract Labor laws of the United States. The bill is only preliminary to a further bill to be framed shortly, the effect being to reduce to a minimum the number of immigrants departing from foreign ports who are not entitled to admission into the United States.

By the provisions of the bill the steamship companies are required to prepare descriptive lists of immigrants on the other side of the ocean and to deliver them to the immigrant inspectors on arrival in the United States. It will be easier, says the report, for the steamship companies to make these lists as the immigrants go on board than it is for our inspectors to make them when they arrive. LETTER CARRIER DOOLEY FOUND

ROBBED AND UNCONSCIOUS. Lying on a Street Corner, His Pockets Emptled, Even His New Cont and Vest Gone-It Was Very Likely a "Knock-out" Brink that Killed Him.

On the sidewalk at Canal and Washington streets, at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning. Policeman John J. Baker of the Prince street station found a man lying unconscious, whether from drink or a blow the policeman was unable to determine. His coat and vest were gone, and his trousers pockets were inside out. An old battered black derby hat lay near. Even his keys and knife had been taken.

Ambulance Surgeon Weeks of St. Vincent's Hospital, who answered the policeman's call, said that the man appeared to have been drugged. He took the man to the hospital. There all efforts to revive him were unsucessful, and he died about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon unidentified. Detective Savercool of the Prince street station was defalled to the case, but was unable to make any headway. Policeman Baker had passed the spot where he found the man at 1 o'clock. Then the street was clear and quiet. Fifteen minutes later, on his return trip, he found the body.

A description of the man which was published in the evening papers yesterday came to the notice of James F. Dooley, a gold beater, to the notice of James F. Dooley, a gold beater, who lives at 9 Dominick street. Mr. Dooley recognized the description as that of his son, John S. a letter carrier attached to Station A of the Post Office, at Houston and Crosby streets. Mr. Dooley went to the hospital and identified the body as that of his son.

John S. Dooley was made a letter carrier in the last year of the Cleveland Administration. He was a competent, faithful man, and had been for four years attached to Station A. His oven for four years attached to Station A. His comrades speak highly of him and say that he was a stendy young man. He took an occommades speak man. that he thought he would go to Coney Island for an outing.

He had been paid $85 on Tuesday. He gave $50 to his father and mother and bought a new hat for himself, so that when he left home, ostensibly for Coney Island, he had about $30 with him. He wore a new suit of brown clothes and his new hat and carried a watch. No trace of him from the time he left his home until Folleeman Baker found him on the sidewalk has yet been found. The fact that the policeman did not see him at 1 o'clock, when he passed the corner where Deoley was found fifteen minutes afterward, coupled with the condition of his clothing, seems to indicate that he had been carried to the spot by theyes who hadrobbed him. The hospital peoples say that he died from optum poisoning. There was a slight swelling at the back of his neck and a small mark. An autopsy will have to be made to determine whether the blow was instrumental in causing death or not. The police strumental in causing death or not. The police have a theory that Dooley fell in with toughs and got a "knock-out" drink.

When they saw the blaze and heard the engines' belts they ran into the street in their night clothes. They cried and hid themselves in doorways. Half a dozen men who slept in the burning building got out composedly and with their clothes on. The fire started in the storeroom in the top floor. The damage was $1,000. NO NEW LETTER TO THE BISHOPS gan's House Here.

A despatch from Rome, dated June 1, was printed yesterday setting forth that, in answer to a letter from Archbishop Corrigan, requesting that the Pops disavow Archbishop Ireland's school plan, the Pope had sent a letter to the Bishops of the province of New York reapproving the Faribault-Stillwater scheme. Archbishop Corrigan's secretary said last evening that the correspondence reprinted from the Tablet in Sunday's Sux was all that had taken place, so far as was known here, and that the matter had been considered by the Archbishop closed and settled when the Pope's decision tolerating the Faribault system, but not approving of it, had been annually that the supervision of the set o dinced. He did not understand the despatch, and was Inclined to think it was merely an unintelli-gent revamping of the original decisions. He did not understand how the Pope could reap-prove what he had not approved.

CORRUPTION IN ST. LOUIS. The Grand Jury Exposen the Rottenness in the City Offices.

Sr. Louis, June 2.- The report of the Grand Jury presented to Judge Normile of the Criminal Court to-day is a remarkable expose of official corruption in the city offices, and has caused a decided sensation. The Grand Jury say that while they were successful in uncov ering many crimes, errors, and weaknesses, they found that the statutes fail to provide remedies where they are most needed. The Police Court is spoken of as a tribunal in which justice shows a woful tendency to mis carry, piracy to thrive, and city revenue to With an increase of six per cent. in the number of cases during the past five years, the fines have decreased 42 per cent, and the collections 70 per cent. Twelve years ago when the city had less than half its present population, the number of convictions and the revenue from fines far exceeded the present

The report goes on to say that when a defendant is fined a stated amount the City Marshal, when possible, collects the fine and the shal, when possible, chieffs the fine anumber of political pirates who infest the Four Courts, men prominent in local politics, employees in the Mayor's office, house of delogates, and various departments, get in their work. As soon as the released prisoner is out of the way one of their number goes to the Mayor's cilice and applies to the officer on duty for a remit of the fine. The application is based on charity, political friendship, &c. The case is referred to the Mayor, and in a few minutes the remit blank is received with his Honor's signature. The petitioner then has a confederate take the remit blank to the City Mar-hall and collect the money, which they divide between them, the defendant knowing nothing about the proceedings.

"The city," says the Grand Jury, "has been swindled out of thousands of deliars in this way by political cormorants, aided by high city officials. In the Court of Criminal Correction and the Criminal Court forfeited bonds are never collected, and, as a result, a cordon of professional bondsmen surrounds the Four Courts, who go on the bond of any crooked stranger for a consideration, there being no risk in the transaction.

The courts are further denounced for the prisoner is released. Then a number of polit-

Courts, who go on sideration, there being no stranger for a consideration, there being no risk in the transaction."

The courts are further denounced for the practice, unauthorized, the jury says, of pardoning prisoners committed to the work house or jail. The report makes many sensational disclosures bearing on these points, and contains abundant evidence to prove the statements.
